DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 12-14, drawn to a method for treating a subject with a pathological condition involving a gamma interferon mediated effect in progression of said pathological condition, comprising administering an amount of a penicillin sufficient to exert a therapeutic effect on said subject.

Group II, claim(s) 15-17, 26, 30, 32 and 35, drawn to a method for treating a subject with a pathological condition involving a gamma interferon mediated effect comprising administering an amount of a hapten modified peptide to said subject.

Group III, claim(s) 18-23, drawn to a method for determining predisposition of a subject for hypersensitivity reaction against a penicillin.

Group IV, claim(s) 24-25, 27-29, 31 and 33-34, drawn to a method for desensitization of a subject suffering from a hypersensitivity.

The inventions listed as Groups I-IV do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the special technical feature from Group I is a method for treating a subject with penicillin, which is different and distinct from Group II's special technical feature which is a method of treating a subject with a hapten modified peptide, which is different and distinct from Group III's special technical feature, which is an assay for determining predisposition to hypersensitivity against penicillin, which is different and distinct from Group IV's special technical feature, which is a method for desensitization of a subject suffering from hypersensitivity to penicillin. Since there is no shared special technical feature, there is no Unity of Invention.

In addition, this application contains also claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention, which make necessary an election of species. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

The multiple methods of Groups II-IV using various hapten modified peptides (claims 18-35).

If any of Groups II-IV are elected, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species [i.e., to elect a specific hapten modified peptide from those recited in claims 18-35 to be used with the elected method] to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: 12, 15, 18 and 24.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the species disclosed do not share a single, special technical feature (see above) and therefore there is no Unity of Invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143). Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
